

Terrifying Technique

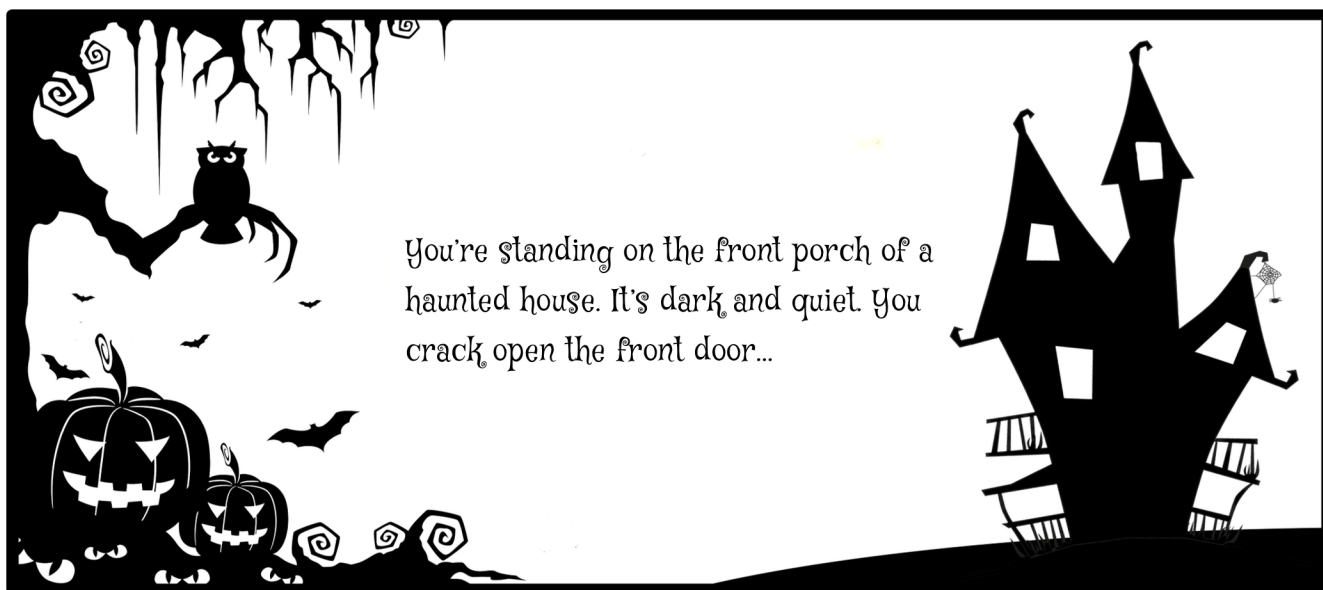

Terrifying Technique is an interactive, story-based technical exercise that focuses on building strength and coordination in the 3,4,5 fingers.

This Halloween-themed activity encourages piano students to play with a sense of musicality not normally found in technical exercises.

Instruct your students to provide the spooky soundtrack as you narrate the story on the following pages.

For optimal spookiness, we recommend that your students play the examples one octave lower than written (bass clef) and one octave higher than written (treble clef).

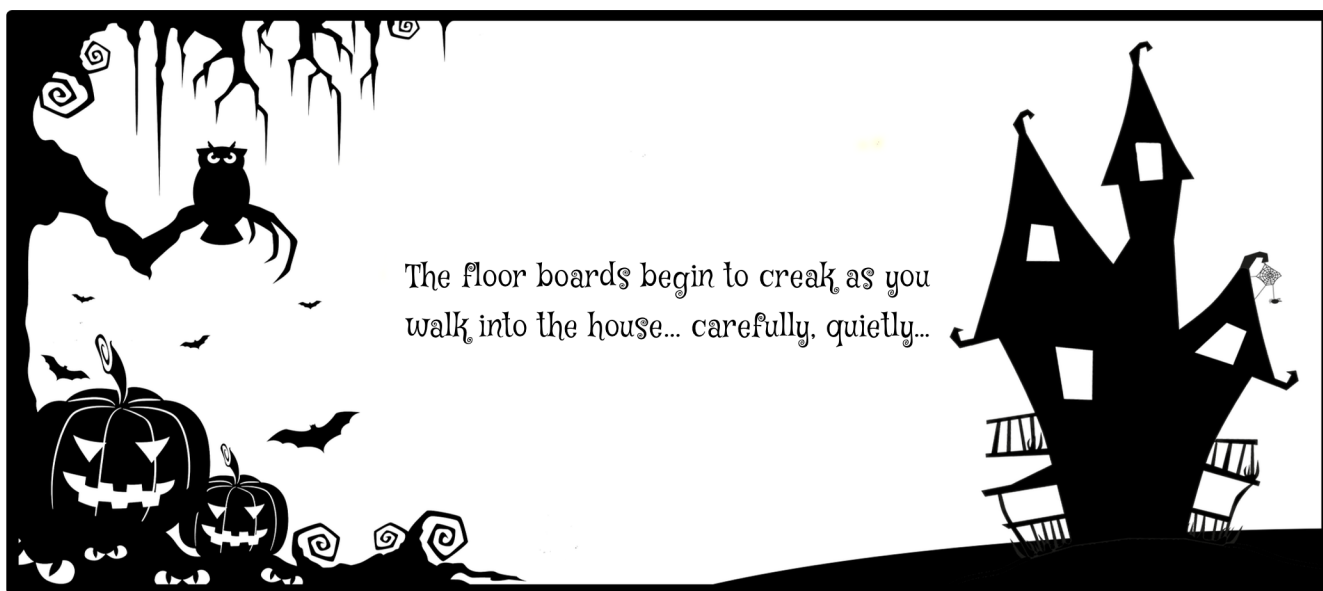

The story begins...

You're standing on the front porch of a haunted house. It's dark and quiet. You crack open the front door...

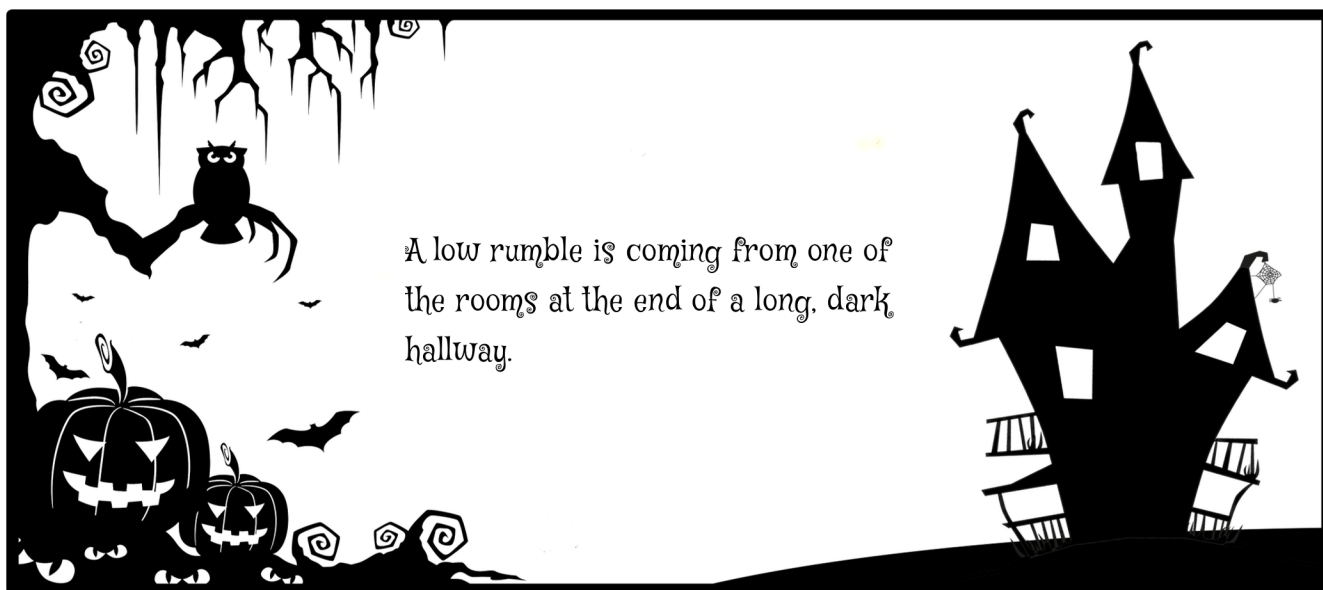

You enter...

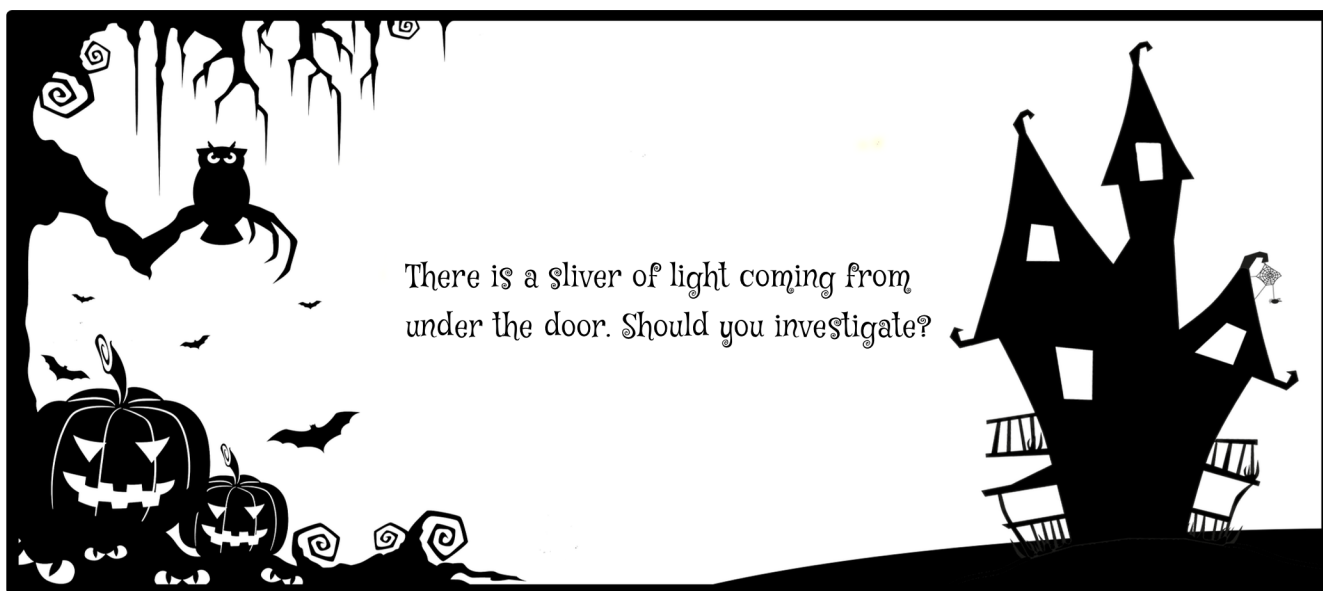

The floor boards begin to creak as you walk into the house... carefully, quietly...

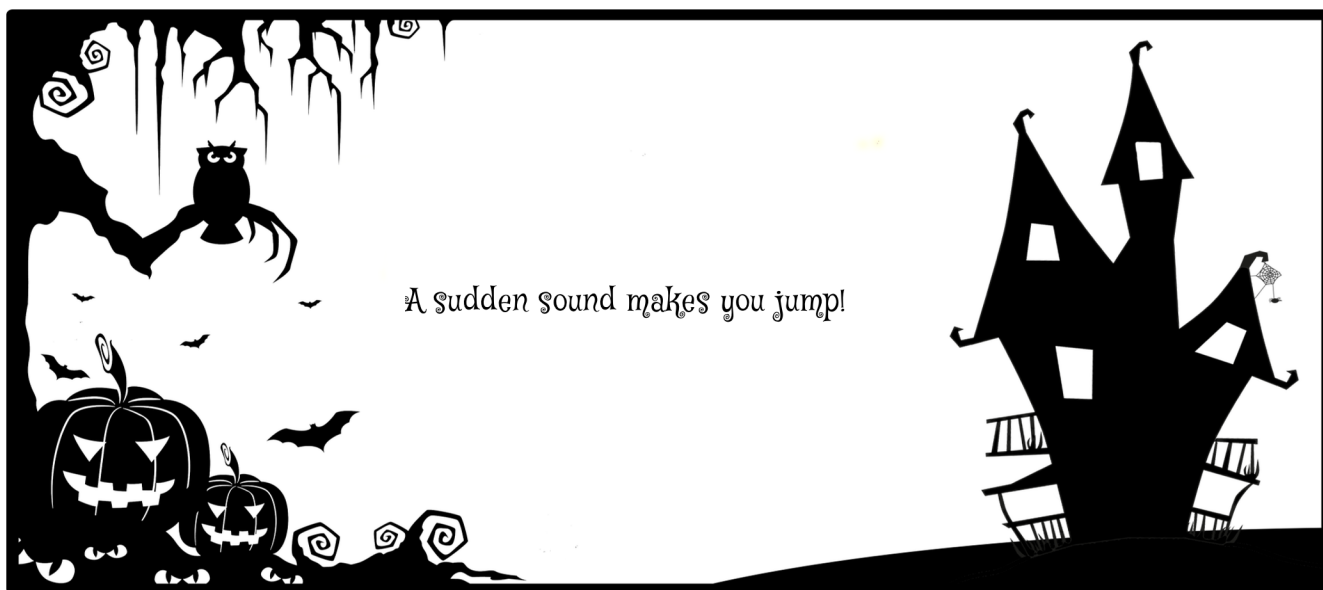

What's that?!

You keep walking...

Who's there?!

A door opens...
