

PENNY IS A WHALE who used to sing beneath the sea.
With her pod she'd hum their tunes and flip her tail with glee.

But then one day a storm did rage and Penny was afraid.
She hid behind a shipwrecked boat and watched the ocean rage.

When the sun came out again, the sea was flat and calm.
But Penny couldn't hear her friends, she knew something was wrong!

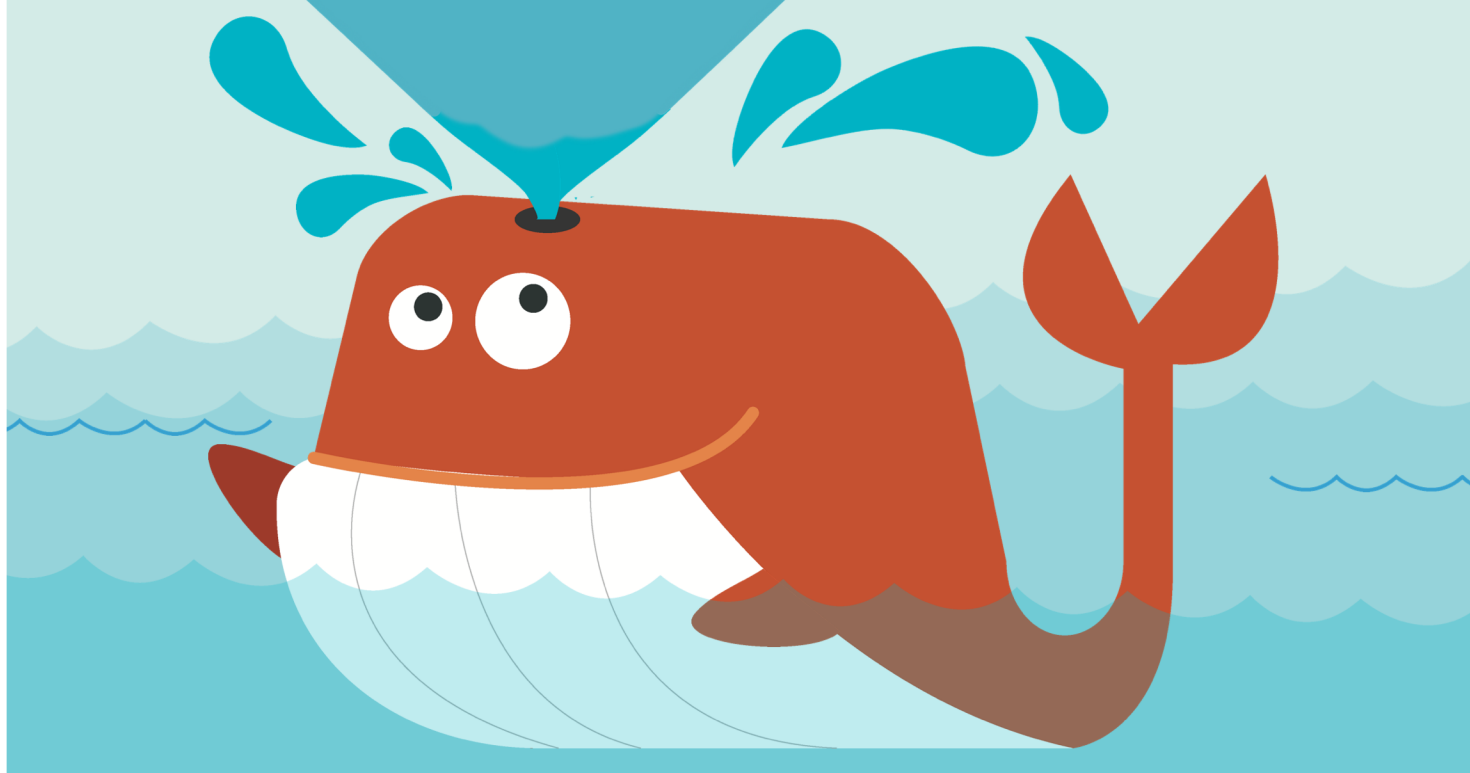

In her fright she couldn't think of how to sing their songs.
Without a tune to call for help, alone she'll drift along.

Now she needs a friend to find the music she once knew;
someone with a book of songs... of course, I thought of you!

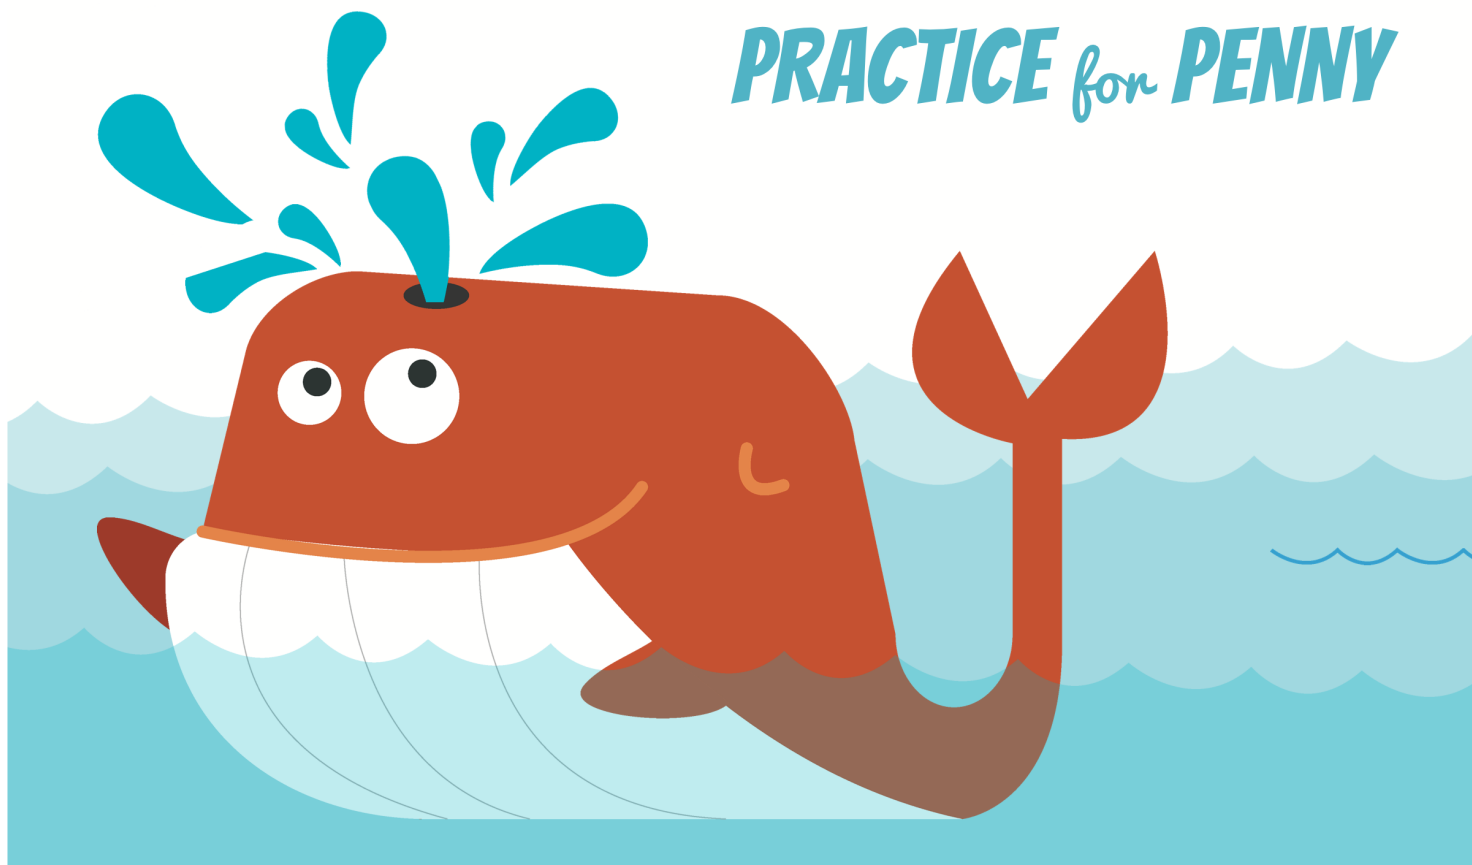

CAN YOU HELP PENNY?

Read the instructions below.

Instructions: Penny will be searching for her song this summer. Look for Penny in your piano book every day. When you find her, play the piece where she is resting.

PRACTICE for PENNY

Dear Parents,

I am excited to introduce you to our Summer Practice Incentive. This week your child met Penny the Whale. Penny has lost her ability to sing. This summer she will be in your child's piano book searching for her song.

But Penny can't do it alone. She needs your child's help... and she needs your help too!

An image of Penny is already inside your child's book. Your child should find this image and then play the corresponding piece. Then, each night after your child is sleeping, find a new piano piece in his/her book that was completed this year and move Penny onto that page. The following day, instruct your child to find Penny and play the piano piece where she is resting.

Play Practice For Penny with your child all summer long. Before returning to lessons have your child select Penny's Song (his/her favorite piece) and play it for me at the first lesson.

Thank you for your help!
